MANIAC KILLS FOUR, WOUNDS FOUR OTHERS IN HOMICIDAL RAGE

Three Women Dead
Three Others Are Hurt By Miner

MERCER, Pa., July 23.—Crazed by a homicidal mania, Marko Demofonti, 35, a miner, today shot and killed four persons, three of them women, and stabbed three other women and a man with a huge knife.

Demofonti was given a sanity hearing yesterday and was to have been removed to an institution for the insane this morning.

He arose after 7 o'clock and, without warning, produced a shotgun and chased his wife, Martha, from the house.

The wife sought refuge in the nearby home of her sister, Mrs. Alfonso Focetti. The enraged husband forced his way into the Focetti home and opened fire at point blank range.

Both women were killed instantly.

Nearby residents, aroused by the shots, ran to the scene where they were met by Demofonti with the gun in one hand and the knife in the other. As the panic-stricken neighbors turned and fled, Demofonti shot down Gucon Behr, a shoemaker, and Mrs. Frank Yakelo. Both were fatally wounded.

Abandoning the gun, Demofonti raced into the throng, wielding the knife indiscriminately. Mrs. Mike Benan and her daughter, Flora, 12, and Mrs. Peter Cicilian and her 10-year-old son, Tony, fell victims to the maniac's thrusts.

MAYOR SURRENDERS SON FOR FORGERY

CLEVELAND, July 23.—Surrendered to police here by his father, Mayor of St. Boniface, Canada, Oscar Herbert Campbell, 35, former salesman for the Sun Life Insurance Co. of Canada, was to be arraigned today on a charge of forgery.

The alleged forgery was committed nineteen months ago, according to police. For more than a year, police here have been searching for Campbell, who was accused by the insurance company of forging his name to a check for $645.30, which the company made out to a policy holder as a loan.

Learning that the hunted man once lived in St. Boniface, detectives asked the aid of police there in locating the fugitive. When the St. Boniface mayor was informed that his son was wanted in Cleveland, he arranged to bring him here, police were told. After their arrival, the mayor obtained legal counsel for his accused son and then went to the detective bureau to surrender him.

COMMISSIONERS TO SELECT AUDITOR

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 23.—In the midst of a grand jury investigation of alleged embezzlement by former County Auditor W. L. Ketter and former Sheriff Maurice J. Caldwell, Scioto County Commissioners today met to select Ketter's successor.

Deputy Auditor Horace Beloit, who was indorsed last night by the county Republican executive committee, was expected to receive the appointment.

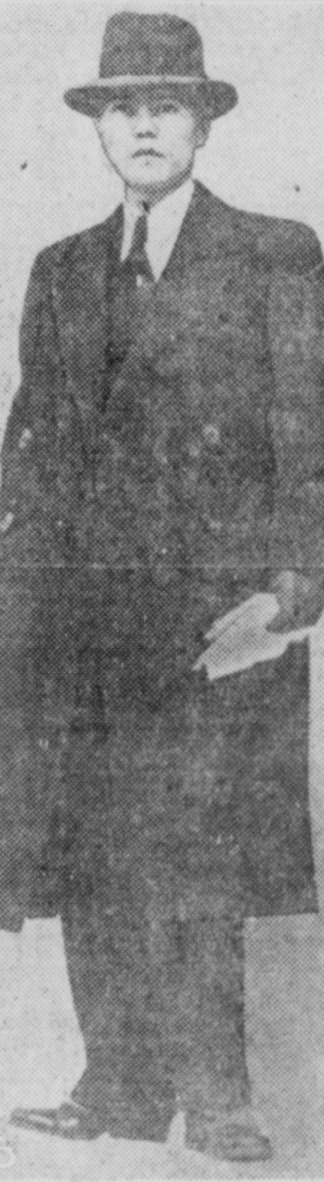

The grand jury continued its probe today, still smarting under a reprimand delivered at the opening of the inquiry by Common Pleas Judge Russell K. McCurdy. Jurors were criticized for failing to return an indictment in the case of Margaret Clarke Tidd, former city municipal clerk, who was released after an alleged shortage of $2,000 in her accounts had been repaid.

PREACHER HURT AS AUTO HITS BRIDGE

DELAWARE, O., July 23.—Rev. Foster C. Anderson, 45, superintendent of the Mansfield district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was suffering a fractured hip and head injuries today as the result of an automobile accident yesterday. His car struck a bridge near Sunbury.

Skidding into the bridge on a curve, the machine was wrecked. Rev. Anderson was returning to his home from Darville, O.

Henderson, late widow of the senator from Missouri left $100,000 and benefits of an additional $100,000 trust fund to Jesse Shima, her Japanese secretary, above, at Washington, a spirited court battle in prospect, Mrs. Henderson, her foster granddaughter, who was cut off without a cent from the estate, which is expected to total millions, is expected to fight the will.

TWO JUDGES FACING DISBARMENT; HOLD BOTH GIVEN BRIBES

Attorney Is Accused Also;
Charges Are Considered

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 23.—Charges of misconduct, coming as a new development in the probe of public officials of Mahoning County and Youngstown, today confronted two common pleas judges and a prominent Youngstown attorney.

The charges were contained in disbarment proceedings filed against Judges David G. Jenkins and J. H. C. Lyon and Attorney Andrew M. Henderson, by Eugene Bennett, president of the Youngstown Bar Association, who was appointed a special officer by three visiting judges conducting the probe, to institute suits based on charges originally brought by Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas.

The disbarment action follows the close of Thomas' trial on charges of blackmail and his hearing on petitions asking for his removal from office. Decisions in the two cases will be announced tomorrow by the special tribunal which is composed of Judges H. W. Jewell, Delaware, A. J. Pearson, Cleveland and Alfred Mack, Cincinnati.

The two accused jurists were charged with accepting favors from the Penn-Ohio Power and Light Company in the disbarment of the company's attorney, charged with accepting a "lucrative" appointment from Lyon after paying some of the judge's personal debts. Judge Jenkins last December handed down the injunction decision restraining the billion-dollar merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Henderson has been acting as special counsel for the state in Thomas' blackmail trial.

Miss Collyer has been called the most beautiful woman in pictures, and Irwin is noted as a comedian.

CIGARETTE TAX MAY NOT BE COLLECTED ON DATE INTENDED

Obtaining Stamp Is Expected To Delay
Application

COLUMBUS, O., July 23.—Entangled in a maze of "red tape," the new state cigarette tax law may not become operative September 1, as was originally intended, it was learned here today.

The stumbling block, according to Senator John S. Edwards, chairman of the state tax commission, is the new tax stamp which must be placed on each cigarette package, but which first must have the approval of the state finance director and go through the rigmarole of state-supervised contract bidding and awarding.

If the commission is forced to bear with strict compliance of the state statutes regarding arrangements for the purchase of the stamps through the state purchasing division, Senator Edwards said, there is a strong possibility that the stamps will not be available in time to put the cigarette tax law into effect according to schedule.

Edwards said that he was planning to confer with State Finance Director Edward L. Bevis soon with a view to obtaining the director's approval of an arrangement to "cut some of the red tape."

For each day of delay of the operation of the cigarette tax law beyond September 1, Edwards pointed out, the state stands to lose approximately $10,000. The law levies a tax of one cent on each ten cigarettes.

"If the 'red tape' can be cut," Edwards said, "the printing contract for the stamps could be awarded within a few days and we could have them in the hands of cigarette dealers throughout the state by the middle of August."

One of the principal matters of concern now to members of the tax commission, Edwards said, is that of finding a glue that will make the stamps adhere satisfactorily to cigarette packages, particularly those in cellophane wrappings.

Arrangements have been made, he revealed, for research work at Ohio State University to aid in solving the glue problem. Until a better adhesive is discovered, however, Edwards indicated that a high grade of glue would be used in affixing the stamps to the cigarette packages.

"Under ordinary circumstances," Edwards said, "such glue as is now available should adhere to the cellophane cover of the packages long enough to complete the retail sale."

Edwards said that members of the tax commission are anticipating a multitude of questions to arise in connection with the operation of the cigarette tax law.

The provision of the statute prohibiting the retailing and wholesaling of cigarettes in the same room or store, is expected to result in the presentation of many applications for rulings by the commission as to whether certain dealers are violating the law, he said.

REDISCOUNT RATE RAISED IN LONDON

LONDON, July 23.—The Bank of England raised its rediscount rate today from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent. The increase of a full point in the rate indicated the seriousness of the recent drain on the bank's gold reserves. Most of the gold lost by the bank has been going to France.

That country still has large amounts of money deposited in this country and subject to withdrawal. During and after the war the French public deposited enormous sums in English banks for safety. The steady withdrawal of these deposits in the past year has proved a heavy drain on the bank of England's gold reserves and more than once the pound sterling weakened on foreign exchanges as the result.

OHIO EDUCATION IS FACING LEAN YEARS RIGHTMIRE CLAIMS

Seeks Cooperation Of Faculty In Spite
Of Cuts

COLUMBUS, O., July 23.—State-supported higher education is in for several lean years, George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State University, stated here today in a message distributed to members of the institution's faculty explaining the salary reduction ordered Monday by the board of trustees.

However, "if all our university staff will accept the situation cheerfully and throw into the work of the university all the energy and enthusiasm we have," he continued, "the education results will be very great and very satisfying notwithstanding our reduced incomes and reduced equipment and supplies and general maintenance throughout the university."

Stating assurance that the university faculty and administrative staff "will certainly render most cordial cooperative and effective service," President Rightmire explained that the recent 7 per cent reduction in expenditures ordered for all state departments and agencies by State Finance Director Howard L. Bevis, meant a decrease in the university income of $411,000 for the biennium.

President Rightmire stated that "for the sake of the students and their parents who send them to the university and also with a view to strong expressions of sentiment in the effect that all workers in industry and business have been forced to take salary reductions," the board of trustees felt impelled to make no increase in student fees but to reduce the university obligation by making reduction in salaries.

"After these reductions are made, it will be necessary to find about $50,000 additional resources or correspondingly to reduce the university obligations," Rightmire added. He said that the board of trustees is at work on this problem now and that it hopes to be able to adopt a detailed budget on August 6.

GOLD ORE DISCOVERED IN GREENE COUNTY

GOLD bearing ore has been found on the property of the Greene Hill Spring Co., on the Valley Pike, near Huffman Dam in Greene County. Joseph W. Sharts, Dayton attorney, owner of the property, took a sample of a strange looking ore uncovered by workmen, to a refining company at Cincinnati for analysis.

SOUNDS OPERATORS REGARDING MERITS OF PROPOSED MEET

Would Bring Labor,
Capital Together
For Discussion

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Prospects of assembling a bituminous coal conference in Washington, under federal auspices, to relieve "the hunger, desperation, bankruptcies and startling un-American practices" alleged to be prevailing in that sorely stricken industry, hinged today upon the replies of some 125 representative operators sent them by the Hoover administration.

Turning aside from his efforts to relieve Germany's economic plight, President Hoover has directed Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Secretary of Labor Dool to ascertain whether the leading mine owners of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia are willing to meet here with their employees and discuss possible remedies for the industry's ills.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, suggested such a conference to the President in a telegram dated June 11, which stated in part:

"Individual operators find themselves helpless to maintain a compensatory price for coal. The fare of the workers and their dependents is actually below animal standards. Calicoes, overalls and rags constitute the clothing of the mining families, while their food consists of mush, beans and molasses."

There was a somewhat pessimistic note in the invitations bearing the names of Lamont and Dool.

FOUR BANDITS STEAL $6,328

CHESTER, Pa., July 23.—Four armed bandits intimidated officials and employees of the Ewing-Thomas Corporation here today, escaping with a $6,328 payroll. The quartet made their getaway in an auto which was reported stolen in Upper Darby on July 19.

The payroll was delivered to the office of M. Moses Ewing, president of the corporation at 8 a. m. Shortly thereafter the bandits appeared on the scene with drawn pistols, two entering by each door.

HOLD SUSPECTS IN MONEY ORDER THEFT

DAYTON, O., July 23.—While authorities here held a Negro and his wife on suspicion, Postal Inspector Harry West was expected to be ordered today to begin an investigation of the disappearance of a book or money orders, containing 119 blanks, and a money order stamp from a post-office substitution last Tuesday.

Herman Carter, 32-year old Negro, and his wife, Dolly, 35, were arrested on suspicion shortly after the discovery of the disappearance of the money order book. Police said the Negro was identified through photographs as the man who cashed a stolen money order recently at a jewelry company.

HAWKS ATTEMPTING NEW SPEED RECORD

NEW YORK, July 23.—Flying in darkness and the face of a 15-mile headwind, Captain Frank M. Hawks, American speed aviator, hopped off at 4 o'clock this morning for Havana, Cuba.

He took off from Lloyd Field, Brooklyn, and hopes to make a one-day whirl to Havana and return, establishing a new record for the round trip.

BOMB INJURES SIX MINERS IN GARAGE BLAST

Blown From Bunks As Mine Violence Is Resumed

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—Six non-union miners were blown from their bunks today in a renewal of mine strike violence when a bomb explosion ripped down part of a concrete garage near the Wildwood Mine of the Butler Consolidated Coal Company.

All six were hurt. One man was reported seriously injured. First reports said he had been rushed to a hospital. The other five were injured by falling debris when the garage walls crumpled inward like papier mache.

Interior of the structure was a shambles immediately after the blast let go. Sheriff's deputies from Pittsburgh left at once for the scene. One man was killed and many injured near the Wildwood mine a month ago when deputy sheriffs opened fire on rioting strikers.

Those injured in today's explosion were Mike Vidovich, 52, John Snoch, 40; Vico Soudich, 39; Mike Yekich, 35; Valco Armsch, 38; and Marco Abramovich, 39, owner of the bunk house.

Snoch, the most seriously hurt, suffered severe lacerations of arms and body. He will recover. That none of the men was killed was believed due to unseasonably cool weather which caused the miners to wrap themselves in extra blankets. The blankets broke the force of the fall of debris.

SHRUBBERY, TREES DAMAGED BY STORM

CINCINNATI, O., July 23.—Costly shrubbery and stately old trees in fashionable Walnut Hills and Avondale sections of Cincinnati were severely damaged in a windstorm that struck the city late yesterday, a checkup showed today.

Scores of large trees were blown down and shrubbery was damaged by the wind and falling trees. Electric wires were blown down, power was cut off, and traffic was tied up.

The storm, the second in two days, broke just as shoppers and workers were going home, and police and wrecking cars battled with the heavy homeward traffic for more than an hour, trying to answer calls to scenes of storm damage.

TO MOVE FACTORY

CINCINNATI, O., July 23.—A contract has been entered into by the Mid-West Farm Equipment Co. to move its tillage tools manufacturing plant from Battle Creek, Mich., to this city, it had been announced here today. According to terms of the contract, the tillage tool company will remove its equipment and begin operations here September 1.

POWERS AVERT CRASH; ADOPT RELIEF PLAN

Leaders Happy Over
Outcome; Follow
Hoover Plan

LONDON, July 23.—The German nation was saved from bankruptcy and immediate financial disaster today when the seven-power conference of ministers assembled here to aid in the Reich's economic recovery wound up its work by adopting a sub-committee's report embodying emergency measures for relief.

The report of the sub-committee, composed of the finance ministers of the various nations concerned contained four recommendations. While they evaded the fundamental issues behind the collapse of German credit, they provide for immediate steps which for the present it least will obliterate the threat of bankruptcy which has been overhanging the Reich for weeks.

While the press as a whole expressed disappointment over the results of the conference, feeling the measures adopted hardly justified the calling of an international conference, American and British leaders were satisfied over the outcome.

In particular, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, who hastily summoned the conference last week when he perceived the tide of events in Germany was rushing that nation toward chaos, was pleased with the outcome.

"I am highly satisfied," the premier said, "Agreement of any sort between seven powers is most difficult to obtain, and this step will carry great importance."

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation, said he was "thoroughly satisfied." Chancellor Heinrich Brüning of Germany told the press he was unable to make any comment.

In general, the report of the finance ministers' committee followed the line taken by President Hoover in his summary of suggestions cabled to London last Friday and which Secretary Stimson later revealed was the joint product of British and American thought.

The chief recommendation embodied in the adopted report was an emphatic declaration that the recent heavy withdrawals of credit from Germany were unjustified. By unanimous vote, the conference adopted the following declaration:

"Recent excessive withdrawals of capital from Germany created an acute financial crisis. The withdrawals were caused by lack of confidence which was unjustified by the economic and budgetary situation."

The conference's achievements were summarized in a formal declaration, which read as follows:

"In order to insure maintenance of the financial stability of Germany, which is essential to the interest of the whole world, the governments represented at the conference are ready to cooperate so far as lies in their power to restore confidence."

"The governments are ready to recommend for consideration of the financial institutions of their respective countries the following proposals relieving the immediate situation:

1.—That the central bank credit of $100,000,000 recently granted to the Reichsbank under auspices of the Bank of International Settlements be renewed at its maturity for three months.

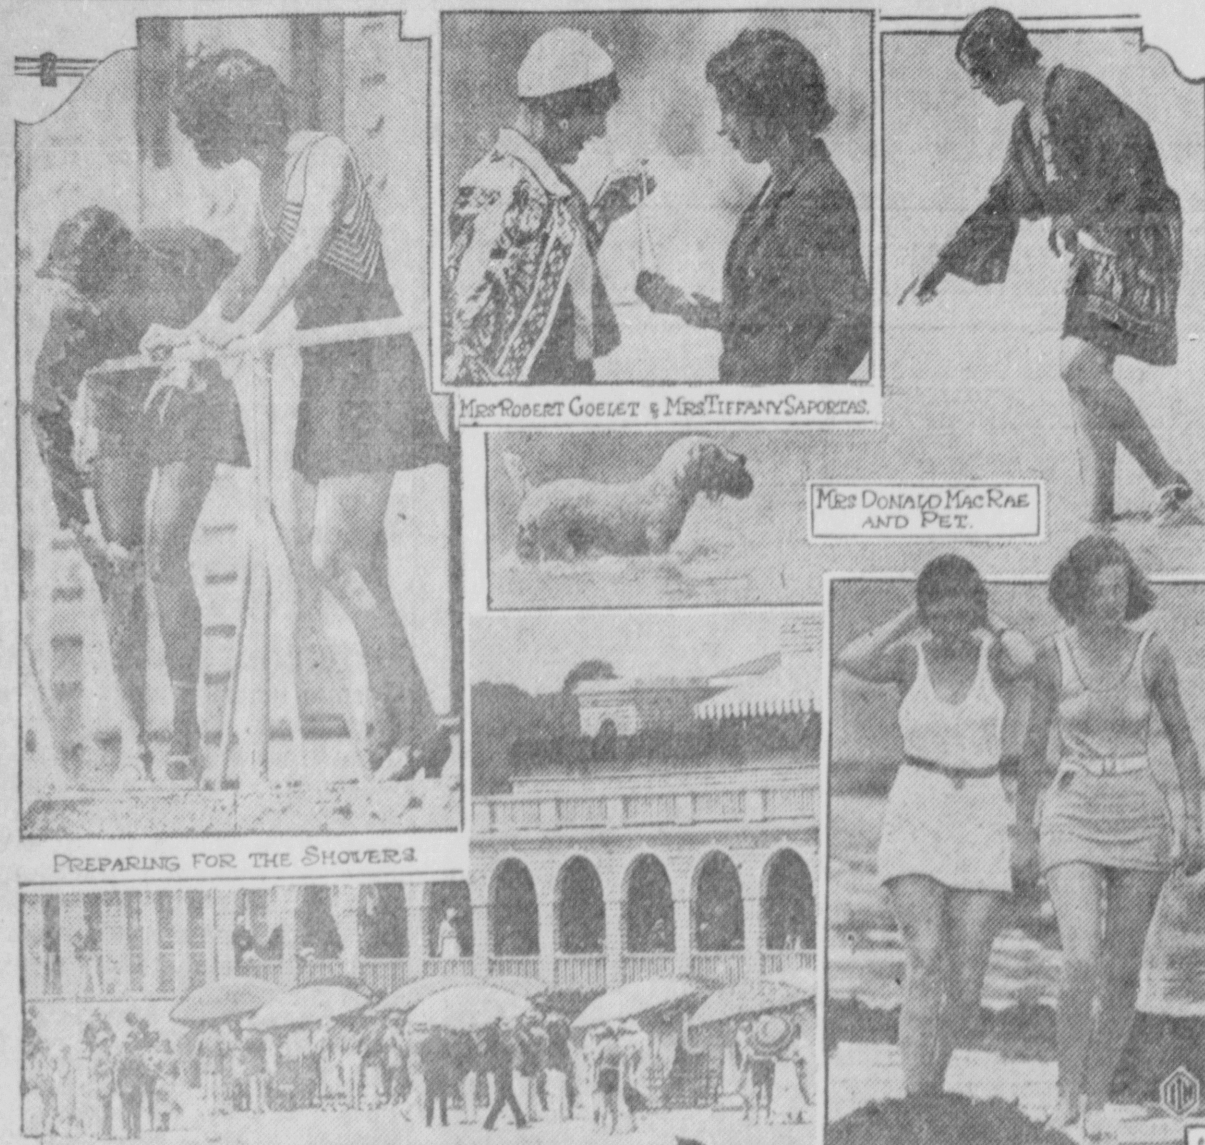

2.—That concerted measures be taken by the financial institutions of the different countries with a view to maintaining the volume of credits they already have extended to Germany.

3.—The conference recommends that the Bank for International

Exclusive Bailey's Beach Crashed By Eye of Long-Distance Camera

PREPARING FOR THE SHOWERS

BAILEY'S BEACH FROM THE SURF SIDE

MR. ROBERT GOELLET & MISS LITFANY SPOKES

MISS DONALD MACRAE AND PET

MISS BETTY MORRIS & MISS MINN KOUNTZ

NEWPORT, R. I., July 23.—It is an unrefined, but nevertheless true, maxim that there are more ways than one of killing a cat. It is also true that the world is full of resourceful people who spend every waking hour with their mental gears grinding away, working out ways and means of doing things that are generally accepted to be impossible of accomplishment.

Take, for instance, those gentlemen of the press to whom the word can't is just four letters without a real meaning. A reporter is sent after a story and he gets it. How? That's his business. A press photographer is assigned to procure a picture. It may be some money magnate guarded as closely as the English crown jewels, or maybe the first-born of royalty. It's all the same to him. It's just another "shot," and he gets it.

Here in Newport, the most exclusive playground in the world, those knights of the lens have succeeded in cracking the hardest nut—Bailey's Beach.

Bailey's Beach, sanctum sanctorum of the bluebloods of the United States, hitherto kept inviolate, shielded by an aura of exclusiveness (and armed guards) from the plebeian gaze of the Great Un-Washed, is the latest fortress of seclusion to be invaded by the all-conquering cameramen.

For years the flower of society has disported itself at the ultra-exclusive resort, safe from the vulgar comments of the gossips, the goggle-eyed stares of the curious and the sycophantic simperings of the social climber.

Press photographers were kept outside a very definitely marked deadline. They could, of course, take all the pictures they wanted of social celebrities going to and from the beach, but when the problem of securing a pictorial record of those same bluebloods disporting themselves, even as you and I, in a bathing suit came up, the bars were most emphatically up also.

But, as has already been pointed out, can't is an obsolete word in newsmen, so after giving the matter of storming the Bailey Beach citadel some serious thought, Mr. Cameraman provided himself with a telescopic lensed camera and proceeded to record the goings-on of society within the sacred precinct from outside the deadline.

This resourcefulness on the part of the photographer has a number of advantages. It preserves his own reputation for getting what he goes after, it presents to the readers of his paper a pictorial record of how the other half lives (something that from the beginning of time has been of prime importance to the masses) and lastly, it makes unnecessary the sometimes ghastly attempt at feigning surprise that society figures feel called upon to make when they see their pictures in the public press.

Another advantage is that the whole operation is painless as the photographed subjects are totally unaware that the all-seeing eye of the lens is benignly recording their playfulness. And they are powerless to guard against this abstract invasion of their exclusiveness—short of making themselves inviolable.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR REUNION HERE

Final details for the fourteenth annual reunion of the Virginian Association at the Greene County Fairgrounds Sunday have been completed by the grounds, reception, membership and finance committees, according to an announcement by H. M. Swindler, Dayton, president of the association.

All Virginians in this vicinity are invited to attend and are asked to bring well-filled picnic baskets. Dinner will be served in the dining hall at 12 o'clock noon. Any persons who are unable to be present for the dinner are invited to attend the afternoon session.

MOTHER IS FACING CONTEMPT CHARGE

Another phase of a several-year old controversy between a divorced father and mother over the custody of a child, will come before the court July 27, when Doris Little Lucas has been cited by Judge R. L. Gowdy to appear on a contempt of court charge.

Davis Little, Dayton, her former husband, charged that Mrs. Lucas refused to turn over to him their daughter, Jacqueline, whom the court had ruled July 16, that he be permitted to have while she was undergoing a physical examination.

VICTIM IMPROVES

The condition of Lawrence G. Pilson, Dayton Power and Light Co. lineman who was seriously injured when he was struck by lightning in Yellow Springs last Saturday evening, is showing slow improvement. He is entirely conscious now, but his vision, believed to have been temporarily suspended by the shock, has not yet returned. He is also suffering greatly from other effects of the electrical bolt. He is at his home on W. Second St.

Mrs. J. E. Tierney and daughters, Ann Jeanette and Margaret, Chicago, are spending several weeks with Mrs. Tierney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Poland at their summer cottage on the Springfield Pike.

Mrs. Nina Townsend and daughter, Maxine, Mrs. Carson Jenkins and daughter, Lillian, this city, and Miss Ruth Jenkins, Dayton, have returned home after spending the past week in Akron with Mrs. Jenkins' daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stanley, New Castle, Ind., will be overnight guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Huston, N. Galloway St.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. North and grandsons, Messrs. William and Howard North, St. Detroit St., are expected to arrive home Friday or Saturday from Presque Isle, Mich., where they spent several weeks. They will return home by way of Sheboygan, Wis.

Miss Beatrice Boyke, W. Main St., was guest of honor at a dancing party given at the Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati, Saturday evening by Mr. Charles West, Cincinnati. She was also a dinner guest at the West home Sunday.

Mr. John Buckwalter, farmer residing south of Xenia, is suffering from an infection in his right hand.

Trinity M. E. Church choir will meet for rehearsal Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Radio Star at 10

It takes some men many years to attain stardom, but Walter Campbell Tetley, 10 years old, is a young man who has reached the height of fame over the radio already at his tender years. Walter is one of the "air's" brightest performers for NBC and does excellent impersonations of Sir Harry Lauder, Scotch comedian.

Treats Five Distressing Troubles; Drinks His Way to Health

You can't be worse off than James F. Darley, who suffered acutely from indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver trouble, followed by neuritis and rheumatism.

Yes—a lot of ailments. All due to intestinal poison. Read now how Mr. Darley drank his way to health. How one simple treatment made a new man of him in one month. Mr. Darley says:

"I had about given up all hopes of recovery or even of relief. I tried treatment after treatment, medicine after medicine, none could do me any good. I was nervous and writhed with pain to the point of desperation. One day a friend insisted that I try Dr. Parker's Treatment, telling me of a number of cases where it had brought about amazing results. I was doubtful that it would relieve me, but decided to give it a trial. The results far exceeded the greatest hopes I had ever held for recovery. Within a week my constipation and indigestion were relieved and I could just seem to feel the poisons being driven out of my body. Within a month I was enjoying the best health I ever had. Other members of my family have also been greatly benefited by Dr. Parker's Treatment. I will never be without a can of it in my home."

HERE'S THE SECRET:—The organs of digestion and elimination must be kept healthy and clean. Rich red blood must course through the body, and in its healing flood, ten or fifteen common troubles are practically washed away. Dr. Parker's treatment is a combination of vegetable remedies in powder form. Dissolve a teaspoonful in your drinking water. Drink three or four times a day. It's palatable and pleasant. Then note the marvelous change! Throw away forever nauseous drugs, powerful habit-forming cathartics. Escape monthly or weekly visits to the doctor, trips to health resorts. In Dr. Parker's famous little orange-colored can is a treasure of health for you. Quit experimenting. For forty years Dr. Parker's treatment has made good. Results are what count. Now that the opportunity presents itself—don't delay a minute—start on Dr. Parker's treatment right now.

Make This Amazing Test:—A can of Dr. Parker's marvelous treatment costs only $1.25—a full month's treatment. Authorized, conscientious druggists guarantee it to you. Take a can home tonight. Begin right away. In a week, like Mr. Darley, you may be relieved of all those distressing symptoms. Because this treatment goes right to the spot, eliminating poisons, enriching the blood, giving you pep and energy. And all by just drinking water charged with this healing compound, like the fabled fountain of Ponce de Leon was supposed to be charged with the powers of youth and long life! How simple to drink your way to health. Yet the experience of thousands points the way to you. And when the druggist says: "Friend—I recommend this treatment because I know what it will do, and if it does not do everything we claim I will gladly give your money back."—When your druggist says this, you have a right, nay, you owe it to yourself, to make this amazing 7-day test entirely at his risk.

If you want to be well—free from pain, eat anything, step along full of life and health magnetism, take home a GUARANTEED treatment tonight. Get a can of Dr. Parker's Treatment from these authorized druggists:

DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT CUTS RATES FOR VILLAGES IN COUNTY

COLUMBUS, O., July 23.—The Dayton Power and Light Co., of Dayton, was authorized today by the state utilities commission to put into effect a new schedule providing for reduced rates for residential electrical service.

The schedule affects service in Jamestown, Waynesville, Corwin, Cedarville, South Charleston, Spring Valley, Bellbrook and Clifton.

The company has been charging a flat rate of ten cents per kilowatt hour.

The new schedule follows: for the first 30 K. W. H., nine cents per K. W. H.; next 50 K. W. H., six cents; over 80 K. W. H., 3.5 cents, with a minimum charge of $1 per month.

Reduction also was authorized for commercial service.

MANY ENJOY COMMUNITY PICNIC HERE; PARK WILL RECEIVE $175

Approximately $175 was realized from Xenia's annual community picnic staged in Shawnee Park Wednesday afternoon and evening under the direction of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. This money will be added to the fund for the upkeep of Shawnee Park. Although the community affair was more of a success financially than in former years it is thought that the attendance was not as large as in previous years when the outing was held on the Fourth of July. Nearly 3,000 people visited the park during the afternoon and evening.

The day's activities started with games and horseshoe pitching at 2 p. m. under the direction of Jay Burnette, of the O. S. and S. O. Home. The main attraction was a duck ring contest in which live ducks were "ringed" in the park's fountain. A ball game between picked teams of the National and American Leagues was staged at 4 p. m.

Supper was served at 6 p. m. and Mrs. J. J. Stout was general chairman of the supper committee. Two ball games, one between the Xenia Butchers and a team composed of Xenia's old-time ball players, and the other, the regularly scheduled game between the Red Wings and Criterion softball teams, were played immediately following the supper. Palm-reading by Miss Nelle McKay was an added attraction and the evening's entertainment was brought to a close with a dance in the park pavilion with music by Roush's Orchestra, Dayton. Dancing was on the park plan and was in charge of Carlton Anderson, chairman of the dance committee.

The general committee in charge of the affair wishes to thank all persons who in any way helped to make this the most successful community picnic held here and also to thank those who contributed to the picnic supper.

CITY EMPLOYEE IS HURT IN GRAVEL PIT

Lawrence Rachford, 325 W. Third St., received painful injuries to his right hip and knee while employed at the city gravel pit on the Towler Road, Thursday morning. Rachford, with several other men, was digging gravel when a piece of "hard pan" loosened and struck him.

He was removed to his home and later was taken to the office of a physician where an x-ray revealed the extent of his injuries.

TAX COLLECTION IN COUNTY IS NORMAL

The June tax collection will be normal in the opinion of County Treasurer Helen Dodds.

The additional twelve day extension of the tax paying period allowed by county commissioners will expire Saturday, August 1. Miss Dodds said Thursday that collections were normal up until July 20, the expiration of the original and customary thirty day extension period. Since then the payments have been light, but the amount of unpaid remaining indicates there will be no greater number of delinquents than is usual.

The commissioners allowed the additional extension as a means of helping persons suffering from the depression and especially aiding farmers.

SUBMITS TO KNIFE RESULT OF INJURY

Leon Smith, Jeffersonville, former Xenian, was to undergo an operation on his left leg, seriously injured in an accident over a week ago, at Grant Hospital, Columbus.

Thursday morning. The nature of the operation was unknown to his family. His general condition was said to be considerably improved, and his mind clearer than at any time since the accident.

The left leg was broken in four places between the knee and ankle when a tree fell on the fire truck he was driving near Jeffersonville. The right leg was also broken but the fracture was not so serious. He also suffered a skull fracture. His sisters, Mrs. Carlton Grieve, Mrs. Edmund Grieve and Misses Ruth and Louise Smith went to Columbus Thursday morning.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.—St. Matthew, xxii, 37.

REGARDING PRESIDENTS

The editor of an Italian-language newspaper in Chicago urges that the constitution be changed so as to permit a naturalized citizen to become president of the United States. The reservation of the highest offices in the country exclusively for natural-born citizens strikes Signor Carnovale as not at all in keeping "with the sublime principles of equality proclaimed by the Declaration of Independence for all American citizens without exception"—and for "all men" for that matter.

While it is probably true that some naturalized citizens would have made quite as able and patriotic presidents as some of the natural-born citizens that have been elevated to the presidency in the past, still, a number of practical objections to Signor Carnovale's proposal promptly present themselves. A naturalized citizen running for president would be the storm center of racial political conflict, a thing it is in the interest of the country and every element in it to discourage. A naturalized citizen who became president would at once be suspected here of favoring the country of his origin; and would be subjected to importunities by his former countrymen and exposed to their resentment if he did not grant them. The position he would thus find himself in would be unpleasant for him and embarrassing for the United States.

An even more concrete objection arises from the different conceptions of nationality entertained by certain European countries and the United States. Second-generation Americans have been seized in France and thrown into the French army on the ground that once a Frenchman, always a Frenchman—even unto the third and fourth generation. Suppose a naturalized American of French origin became president, visited France, and was forced to serve with the colors!

Citizens of foreign birth are admitted to every office except the presidency. Some of them have been senators and cabinet members and have held other high offices, with distinction. The extent and nature of the power exercised by the president are such that naturalized citizens may well be content to leave that power to the enjoyment of their children, who will have been born on American soil.

CHINESE ONLY

The "indiscriminate and unnecessary" use of foreign languages by Chinese citizens in China is tabooed by a recent order of the Nanking government. The petition which elicited this order pointed out that the language of a nation has an important bearing on the development of its culture. Soviet Russia and Italy have enacted rigorous legislation to protect their mother-tongues, according to the petition.

A fact noted by the petitioners as deplorable is that "since the influx into China of foreign influences in the latter part of the Manchu dynasty, a great number of Chinese intellectuals, with hardly any sense of national amour propre, have prided themselves on their ability to speak and write foreign languages." The spread of the national revolutionary influence is credited with having curbed this "contemptible practice," but it must be rooted out completely in order "to restore national prestige and the self-confidence of the people."

Just what the Nanking authorities regard as the "unnecessary" use of foreign languages is not defined in their edict. The use of foreign languages by Chinese in China is often necessary if there is to be any communication between Chinese and foreigners. The Chinese language is so difficult to master that relatively few Americans and Europeans acquire command of it. Chinese find it much easier to learn German or French or English, which has come to be the "lingua franca" of the China coast.

The cultural invasion staged by these tongues naturally is irritating to the nationally self-conscious young men who have raised the standard of "China for the Chinese." Amour propre must be served.

ANYTHING POSSIBLE

Anything may happen in this uncertain world, anywhere, at any time. Consequently it would be foolish to say that Germany might not go communistic, as the result of a social upheaval, but to assert the possibility of her doing so at this time as other than so remote as to be unthinkable reveals a profound ignorance of German character, German history and German aspirations.

The chance of Germany going communistic is about one to ninety-nine chances of her going fascist if there is to be any change. The communists increased their seats in the reichstag between 1924 and 1930 from 62 to 76, whereas the National Socialists and the National People's party combined jumped from 127 seats to 148; while, as a result of realignments, Adolf Hitler's National Socialists, at the 1930 elections, alone increased their representation from 12 seats to 107. There's where the danger lies. The communists have a majority of 500 against them in the reichstag. They polled only 4,587,708 votes in last September's elections in a total of roughly 35,000,000. The two fascist parties polled more than 13,000,000 votes.

The traditions of an enlightened monarchy which the majority of the Germans of today were brought up to respect will keep the prow of their ship of state headed toward stronger government, which is not the direction in which communism lies.

The story about Mr. Gleimann, of Rhodesia, who saved himself from destruction by grabbing the tongue of a lion, reminds us of the old yarn about the Roman gladiator who made a specialty of reaching down the throats of lions and turning them wrong side out by grabbing their tonsils and pulling.

One great reason for distrusting Hitlerism is the fact that a person whom the women call "Handsome, Adolph" cannot, in the nature of things, be a sound political guide.

The Christian Endeavorers say that Reno under the present Nevada divorce laws is a disgrace to civilization. It would be no less a disgrace to decent savagery.

MY NEW YORK

—BY JAMES ASWELL—

NEW YORK.—Manhattan Island is getting a double-chinned skyline from the new group of uptown skyscrapers which cluster near the Waldorf-Astoria.

Week-end cruises and a free trip to Europe are the latest bid of the taxicab companies for patronage. The Five Boro fleet drivers pass out numbered cards to all who ride with them. From the card it would seem that you need only mail it in to get your tickets by return post, but what arrives is a circular containing the information that a "prominent person" will draw the winning numbers from a hat.

If enough cab fleet owners adopt this idea they will have all their best customers abroad in short order.

"One time over"—borrowed from the barber shops—is the new way for one gangster to instruct another: "Here's a sucker. Clip him, but no rough stuff; it may be dangerous because he looks important." It's what the racketeer taxi driver says when he lets you out at a "nice quiet place" for a drink, maybe, with music and dancing. The corman passes the word to go easy—sometimes.

WITH A FAST CAMERA

The newsreel theaters have quite a problem in Mayor Walker. They want variety, but if they are to "cover" the important events of the town they must include Jimmy in nearly all official shots.

Sometimes he appears six and seven times on a single program. Conversation with a Coney Island bus driver at the curb in Times Square. "Who are those old ladies all by themselves in your car? They aren't passengers."

"Naw, them's what you call de-croys, Jack."

One of those girls was a famous actress, once, to hear her tell it. She's never been to Coney Island. They get out when we fill up and wait for the next trip.

There are only three night clubs now open on Broadway. Jean Arthur—whose contract option wasn't taken up by Paramount at the same time they let Mary Brian's and Fay Wray's slide—has leased an apartment at the Waldorf here and set down for several months to wait.

The perspiring police escort, idling their motorcycles in front of the super-swanky Hotel Pierre the other noon, waiting for Mayor Walker to finish marrying Irene Delroy, the actress who helped make "Follow Thru" a musicomedie hit, to William Lister Austin, Jr., social register.

The poliest policemen in town are stationed around Times Square and Grand Central; their amiable chatter with the front row of the pedestrian lines makes the mid-town mob take on the air of a football crowd in a college town. You expect to see hawkers brandishing pennants and re-bibboned celluloid pickings any minute. Instead you're offered 25 cent wrist watches and mechanical toys.

ANOTHER ENGINEERING PROBLEM

IN NEED OF LEADER, GERMANY LIKELY TO TURN TO HITLER, NATIONS FEAR

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON.—The certainty that there will be an overflow of Germany's economic troubles, from the Fatherland itself more or less into every other country in the world, is bad enough.

They may develop politically also, however, and that will be worse yet, as pessimistic forecasters view the international future.

Diplomatic Washington does most of the political prophesying. Treasury and commerce department officials are more interested in the economic aspects of the situation. Separately, their predictions are not so threatening; combined, they make an uncomfortably explosive mixture.

The Germans naturally are an orderly, substantial people, who are reasonably sure to settle down to a peaceful evolution out of their present difficulties if the process can be rendered not too intolerably painful for them, according to the diplomats.

Thus far, good; but the process unavoidably will be terribly painful, according to the economists. Cancellation or even a radical reduction of war reparations, following the current year's moratorium, of course, would solve the whole problem, so far as the Germans are concerned, but, of course, Germany's creditors never will consent to such a solution without a corresponding scaling down of America's claims against them, and that is something no one is naive enough to believe the American taxpayers will submit to. Even congressional approval of the moratorium, while expected, now seems unlikely to be as enthusiastic as the first response to President Hoover's offer of it gave promise of.

All this is so obvious that few observers of the latest crisis in German economics dare to look for the Fatherland's escape from its tribulations, at least more than temporarily, with a resumption of reparations payments looming right ahead—and on a larger scale than ever, for the last year will have to be made up by increased subsequent instalments.

Never, diplomats agree, did a people more urgently need able leadership—and the leader they are afraid the Germans are about to turn to is Adolf Hitler.

Among all the critics, who have visited Germany in recent years and with whom I have talked, not one, from the extreme conservatives to the reddest radicals, has had a good word to say for Hitler. Some know him only by reputation; some have heard him speak; some are personally quite well acquainted with him. Without a dissenting voice they pronounce him a demagogue pure and simple—and not only that, lacking broad knowledge.

"Mentally, he is just what one would imagine," says Senator King of Utah, who has met and studied him, both vis-a-vis and on the stump. "From a glance at his picture—vain, shallow, far below mediocrity, but dynamic and with a remarkable flow of fiery oratory; not that he says anything worth hearing, but a most successful rabble-rouser."

Being an avowed Fascist, the impression perhaps is that he is a second Mussolini, but all accounts, by public men in this country who are familiar with his personality, concur that he is the merest caricature of the Italian dictator.

Moreover, reliable testimony from Germany is to the effect that perhaps half or perhaps more than half of the Hitler following consists of Communists, aligned with him solely with a view to overthrowing the existing Berlin government, a nibble upon turning against him if and whenever this end is attained, in favor of the establishment of a Soviet regime.

From the French standpoint, it is clear that there would little to choose between the triumph of German Fascism and German Sovietism. The two elements are equally determined upon repudiation of the Versailles treaty, including war indemnities; besides being impossibly dangerous neighbors in either case.

French intervention is regarded in diplomatic circles here as a foregone conclusion, should either group gain the upper hand in Berlin.

Against the French, the assumption is that a Communist government in Germany would be assured of Russian support. This would not, indeed, be according to a Hitler dictatorship, but such an administration is spoken of as certain to be of short duration, even if established, with the French hammering it from one direction and the Moscow-backed Communists in revolt in Germany itself.

To be sure, it is sincerely hoped in Washington that no such series of events will ensue, as a result of the disturbed state of affairs prevailing in central Europe.

Nevertheless, it is the logical sequence of possibilities which internationalists are discussing in Washington if the moratorium program, and such outside aid as may be extended to German banking and industry, fail to restore stability to the Teutonic republic.

As to how far it might go, once started, one prognosticator's guess is as good as another's.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

—BY MRS. MARY MORTON—

Planked Ham Luncheon Dish
Lettuce with Thousand Island Dressing
Raspberry Pie Coffee
Isn't this a simple menu? Try it for dinner some warm night or for a guest luncheon.

Ham Recipes

Planked Ham Luncheon Dish.—One slice ham, three-fourths inch thick; one cup pineapple juice, one banana, four slices pineapple, one can asparagus tips or fresh green asparagus cut in short lengths, eight green pepper rings. Score fat around ham. Broil for ten minutes without turning, basting several times with fruit juice. Then remove to heated platter or oven glass baking platter broiled side down. Arrange pineapple and asparagus tips around ham. Place green pepper rings over the asparagus tips. Then place banana which has been cut in half lengthwise, then in half crosswise on top of ham and continue cooking. Garnish with watercress or parsley.

Raspberry Pie.—Baked pie shell, four cups raspberries, sugar to taste (about one cup). Wash and hull berries. Add sugar and chill. Put sweetened berries in baked crust and cover with berry topping. Berry Topping.—One-half cup evaporated milk, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice, few grains salt, one-half cup berry pulp, sugar to taste. Scald milk in double boiler. Chill thoroughly and beat until stiff. Add lemon juice and salt and beat until very stiff. Fold in crushed, sweetened berries.

Suggestions

To Obtain Onion Juice.—To extract onion juice, cut a slice from the root end of the onion, draw back the skin and press onion on a coarse grater, working with a rotary motion.

Vegetables are served on the dinner plate now, rather than in little dishes at the side. However, they are never eaten with a spoon, but always with the fork.

Tomato Sauce.—Two cups canned tomatoes, two slices onion, one teaspoon sugar, one bay leaf, two whole allspice, two whole cloves, flour, butter or other fat, salt and measure the liquid. For each cup of liquid blend two tablespoons flour and two tablespoons melted fat, add to the tomato juice with salt and pepper to season, and stir until thickened. Continue to cook over hot water for five to ten minutes. Serve hot with croquettes or meat loaf.

Bank System Used In Reducing

—BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.—

"The doctor said for me to eat spinach to reduce and I don't like spinach."

Some such similar wail goes up. Well, you can eat anything you like and still reduce.

A good system for doing it is the checking account system. Just like a checking account in the bank. You have a balance and you check against it.

You can have 1,000 calories a day. That is your balance. It is distributed as follows: 120 grams of carbohydrate, 60 grams of protein and 30 grams of fat. (This adds up to slightly more than 1,000 calories, but the difference is negligible.)

You can draw out this balance any way you like. Suggested amount: 300 grams of 10 per cent fruits (this means 10 per cent of carbohydrate), 100 grams of 10 per cent cereal, 5 grams of 85 per cent butter (85 per cent fat), 30 grams of bread, 400 grams of milk, 300 grams of 3 per cent vegetables, 100 grams of 10 per cent vegetable, 100 grams of 20 per cent meat or fish (20 per cent protein), 70 grams cottage cheese, 1 gram of egg.

Suggested distribution:
Breakfast—100 grams 10 per cent fruits, 100 grams 10 per cent cereal (2 heaping tablespoons), 5 grams of butter, 100 grams of milk, black coffee (no value).

Lunch—200 grams 3 per cent vegetables, 100 grams 20 per cent vegetables, 100 grams 10 per cent fruit, 1 gram egg, 100 grams milk, 50 grams cottage cheese.

Dinner—100 grams 3 per cent vegetables, 100 grams 10 per cent vegetables, 100 grams 10 per cent fruits, 100 grams 20 per cent meat or fish, 200 grams milk, 20 grams cottage cheese.

Some of the allowances:

Three Per Cent Vegetables—Asparagus, string beans, wax beans, beet greens, cauliflower, cucumbers, egg plant, mushrooms, sauerkraut, watercress, ripe olives, tomatoes, cabbage, celery, endive, lettuce, lettuce, marrow, pickled radishes, sorrel, spinach, rhubarb.

Ten Per Cent Vegetables—Pumpkin, beets, carrots, okra, green olives, onions, parsnips, squash, turnips.

Twenty Per Cent Vegetables (3 Per Cent Protein)—Baked beans, green corn, green peas, lima beans, macaroni, perch, shad, rice.

One hundred grams of 20 per cent vegetables is about 2 heaping tablespoons.

One hundred grams of 20 per cent meat or fish is about an average helping or slice.

One hundred grams of 10 per cent fruits is 3 or 4 heaping tablespoons.

Is Mother Too Strict?

—BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE—

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I have a daughter 13. She feels as though she ought to have girl and boy friends. She never goes out with anyone but her mother."

"Of course, Virginia, I am very strict with her. I will not allow her out of my sight to go alone anywhere, or don't let her go out with any other girls, not even to a store."

"I take her car riding myself any place she wants to go. I feel she is only a baby yet, as she is the only one I have."

"Virginia, am I keeping her down too much? What I want to tell you is that she is only 13, and she looks to be like a girl of 17, and it seems that boys are saying too much attention to her. Virginia, will I still keep her as close to me as ever?"

"WORRIED MOTHER." Dear "Worried Mother," your little girl is growing up and even though she seems a baby to you, she is as you were at her age. You surely remember. You cannot be very old yourself, as your daughter is only 13.

The surest way to lose her is to keep her close to you, contradictory as that seems. The best way to keep her close as your companion and chum is to give her up occasionally—to let her go out with boys and girls and welcome them to your home. Talk the matter over with her, explaining that she must not expect to go out on school nights. She must conserve her health. But that on Friday and Saturday nights and on Sundays she may have her good times, if she promises to be home early, and also may have her friends at her home. In this way, you see, a girl gets her social training so that later she can adjust herself happily to her environment, whatever it may be.

As sure as you keep on as you are doing—always going with her and keeping her away from young people and the good times they alone can give her, so surely you make her unhappy and rebellious and her love and trust in you will be shaken. I know what I am talking about, for I get letters from girls who sneak out with the boys, knowing that if they ask they will not be allowed to go. They say they are sorry, and don't like to do it, but excuse themselves because their "parents are so strict. They don't seem to remember that they were young."

"Be frank with your daughter. Explain why girls can't run around with everyone. Talk to her as if she was a woman, even if she is young. She will understand and respond. Believe me, dear mother, this is the way to keep your little girl close to you. Thwarting her natural instincts is sure to end in disaster."

HOW RAYS OF SUNSHINE ENTER RAINDROPS

Here is how the prismatic colors of the rainbow are produced: A ray of sunshine makes a tour through a raindrop. The ray that finally gets back to your eye first strikes the raindrop a little more than two-thirds of the way above its equator. From there the ray penetrates the drop to the far side at a point near its equator. It then reflects downward, coming out of the drop at the under side. As the ray of light leaves the raindrop it is bent toward the observer. In general, the raindrops higher up furnish the red and those lower down the violet. Remember, your eye is at the point of the cone of the rainbow, the rainbow arch at its base.

Over-Exposure To Sun Dangerous

—BY GLADYS GLAD—

"DEAR MISS GLAD: You mentioned in a recent column that it is very dangerous for a woman to expose herself to the sun for so long a time that her skin becomes badly burned. Now as far as I can see, the only thing that happens in such a case is that the skin blisters and peels, and looks unsightly for a while. But that's only temporary. Why is it so dangerous?"

INQUISITIVE.—The danger of over-exposure of the body to the sun's rays lies in the fact that these powerful rays may penetrate the layers of the skin and seriously injure the under strata. The skin will then become thick and dry, and the circulation of the blood through the skin's tissues will be dangerously reduced. Chills and fever can follow a too great exposure to the sun's rays, sunburn poisoning can develop, and there are cases on medical record where the results have even proven fatal. If you want a coat of tan, by all means don't try to acquire it all at once. Be content to let the sun tan your skin gradually.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've been following the excellent reducing diet contained in your booklet on 'The New Figure,' and have already lost 15 pounds. However, I'm rather a lazy cuss and dislike to exercise. I have not, therefore, been practicing the exercises contained in the booklet. Do you think that exercise is really essential when one is reducing?"

FANNY.—I do, indeed, think that exercise is essential when an individual is attempting to reduce her weight. The reason that the body stores up fat is because more food is consumed every day than the body can use up. If, therefore, you make your body use up more energy by exercising vigorously, there will not be so much left over for storage. A good diet will prevent any more fat from storing itself on your body. But exercise, taken at the same time that you are following the diet, will help to break down the excess fat already in storage on your body. Exercise is also essential to prevent flabbiness, to build up firm, smooth muscles in place of soft, puffy fat. And, what is more important, it is absolutely necessary to strengthen the muscles of the body so that they can correctly support the various organs that were previously supported by the disappearing fat.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've heard that an excellent face mask can be made of Fuller's earth and lemon juice. I'd like to try this mask, but have no idea of what Fuller's earth is, nor where it can be obtained. Is there a Fuller company that specializes in manufacturing this specific preparation?"

MRS. K. R. N.—Fuller's earth is not the trade name for a specific preparation manufactured by a Fuller company. It is the general name given to a particular composition of ingredients used in both the beauty culture field and the industrial world. It is inexpensive, and can be purchased in any drug store. It possesses astringent and bleaching properties, and when combined with strained lemon juice forms an excellent face mask.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail she will be happy to send you her pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For her articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs" two cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

Red Wings Shut Out Criterion Team 5 To 0

PINCH HITTING for Phil Frame by R. A. H.

Spug Meyers, Idaho and Mike Dundee, hard hitting Italian lightweights, have been signed to headline the next professional fight card at North Side Field, Dayton, next Wednesday. Matchmaker Max Yinger reveals.

They will fight ten rounds and Yinger has also signed two more ten rounders. Marty Gornick, Pittsburgh, who dropped Joey Lawrence at Dayton last week and John Curtin, of Dayton, will get together in one and Coleman Johns, another Dayton light heavy will face Mickey McFarlane of Chicago in the other.

Dundee is one fighter who seems to get better as the years roll on. As smart as they make them and one of the hardest punching little fellows in the business, Dundee is bad medicine for any of them. However, he should have his hands full with Meyers. Gornick should rule a slight favorite over Curtin while McFarlane, who faces Johns, isn't so well-known.

Primo Carnera, the Italian heavy weight, in an exhibition movie at a Xenia theater this week, looked big enough to whip any of the contenders.

Carnera is six feet, seven inches tall, weighs 270 pounds and wears a size seven shoe. He takes good care of himself and is in good condition, but when and if he enters the ring against Maxie Schmeling, the German champ, it is dollars to doughnuts that the champ will rule the favorite.

Outside of a powerhouse punch, the Italian hasn't shown anything to get excited about except his size, because he is slow on those big feet and lacks the polish of a champion boxer. With his reach and the resistance his enormous physique gives him, however, he is equipped to give any one trouble.

Fighting these days, it would appear, is being carried out of the ring and into the ball parks. Jawn McGraw, fiery manager of the New York Giants, has returned to his old practice of umpire-baiting, apparently with the idea of getting his dormant athletes steamed up to putting a little fight into their play on the field.

McGraw started his tactics at St. Louis, where his boys folded up against the St. Louis Cardinals, giving evidence that they need some scrappy spirit if they are going anywhere in this year's pennant race.

It's the old fighting spirit that wins sport events, whether it is boxing or baseball. Many a polished boxer has been polished off by a crude opponent because he didn't have a fighter's heart and many a horse race has been won by the beast that had the heart to stay the distance and fight for leadership on the stretch.

The quality of one much admired in the world of athletics as witness the complimentary remarks of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, about Art "What A Man" Shires, erstwhile big league first baseman, who is now performing in the Association.

Hornsby makes no secret of the fact that he has his eye on Shires, pointing out, as an excuse, that the club would be caught flat-footed if anything happened to Charley Grimm. It is Shires' scrappiness that makes him admired by the Chicago boss, who points out that the fighting spirit "What A Man" displays off that makes for a winner in sport. Besides all that of course, Shires has been playing bang-up ball and pounding the leather.

PERRINE GIVES Foe BUT FOUR SAFETIES IN LEAGUE CONTEST

Wells Pitches Well But Support Is Notably Absent

Thunder rumbling over Cox Athletic Field Wednesday evening was almost drowned out by the steady roar created by the crumbling defense of the Criterion softball team as the Red Wing took a National League game from the unhappy haberdashers 5 to 0.

The ice cream makers thus further entrenched themselves in this place while all you have to do to see the Criterion in first place is to turn the standing upside down. A couple more games like that and the clothiers will drop right into the top of the American League, where there is already scramble enough.

The luckless last-placers received able pitching from Herman Wells Wednesday evening, who permitted but seven blows and had the enemy popping up most of the time, but his mates went to pieces under the ordinary infield bombardment and then fell down feebly at bat. Wells should sue these lads for non-support.

In the meantime Pina Perrine, the big target from Cripple Creek, hurled in masterful form, dusting off the clothiers with but four hits and evidently being in better form than he was before he stopped a hard-hot ball during a game last week. Two of these hits came in the first inning but without producing a run. Buell singled and was forced by Cliff Hoag. Shoup popped to Leopold. Wells doubled but Hoag was stopped at third where he died on Glenn's roller.

Another single by Buell in the third and a single by Glenn in the seventh, were wasted. Leahy led off with a single for the Red Wings. Paul Fuller doubled, H. Hoag dropped Burnett's fly, Metzger fumbled Wakely's blow and Perrine doubled to score three runs in the first. They added another in the fourth. Leopold was safe on C. Hoag's error. Yeakley popped out and Leahy walked. P. Fuller forced Leopold at third but Burnett singled, scoring Leahy. The last run came in the sixth when P. Fuller tripled with two out and scored on Burnett's single. It was Burnett's third hit of the game.

WALKER EARNS DRAW IN FIGHT WITH SHARKEY

NEW YORK, July 23.—Mickey Walker, a little man with a big fighting heart, was the pugilistic hero of the hour today as a result of his surprisingly strong showing against Jack Sharkey, the garrulous Boston heavyweight. In their fifteen-round bout at Ebbets Field last night for the benefit of the Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., Spotting Sharkey twenty-nine pounds in weight and bleeding badly during the fight from a cut over his left eye, the "toy bulldog" by sheer aggressiveness and will to win, earned a draw with the highly-touted blue-jacket.

Sharkey's inability to whip his smaller opponent sent his prestige down to a new low and disputed his right to claim that he is the man who should fight Max Schmeling of Germany for the heavyweight championship of the world next summer.

It was a close fight—so close, in fact, that for hours afterward, the experts were in the throes of discussion regarding the fairness of the verdict. No matter how the bout is figured, however, it was a moral victory for Walker. For it was the consensus before the fight, that Sharkey would surely win by a knockout inside of ten rounds. There were between 30,000 and 35,000 spectators.

"The decision was outrageous," declared Jack Kearns, manager of Walker and former manager of Jack Dempsey. "I am going before the New York Boxing Commission and ask them to reverse the verdict." Sharkey himself was greatly disappointed. He thought he won the fight handily. He could not understand how the referee and the two judges could arrive at a draw verdict. "I should have been awarded the fight," said Sharkey. "I came out of the bout unmarked and every body will have to admit I cut Mickey up quite a bit. I'll admit he did better than I thought he would. I figured going into the ninth round that I was perhaps a round behind, but from then on, it was my fight. I figure I walked away with most of the remaining rounds. I am sure now the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth by wide margins. It was a bad decision."

EVERYONE PLAYS SOFTBALL AS FEATURE OF PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Two softball games that featured the program of the annual community picnic at Shawnee Park and Cox Athletic Field Wednesday afternoon and evening, furnished fans with plenty of entertainment.

Former softballers and others who never had one of the blamed things in their hands before, took part in one of the games, which was staged between the Bleacher Umpires, meaning those fans who sit in the stands and razz the athletes and the Butchers, who once had a team in the leagues.

The Butchers slaughtered the amateur umpires 13 to 7 in this contest while a picked team from the National League went down to defeat at the hands of a picked American League team 9 to 0 in the other contest. George Herr, the bridegroom-elect, who plays with the Criterion, noted with much satisfaction that Tiny Smith, his warm friend and severe critic, took his stance at the plate for the Umpires no less than three times in the game without contributing so much as one safe blow.

Most of the ump's hitting was done by Dan Nichols, who got three safe and Meahaffey and "Dutch" Schultz, who contributed two blows apiece while George Henkle, the amiable Green St. Democrat, "done noble" at first base but fanned three times straight at the bat. In the meantime Dawson, with three hits and Geger, G. Anderson and Cloisey Anderson with two each, helped slaughter Swindler's offerings as the Butchers piled up a commanding lead. Buck pitched well for his team.

In the inter-league contest, Luttrell, pitched for the Krippendorfs, last year's American loop champs, was in great form, permitting the National League stars but two singles, contributed by Lunsford and Snell and completely subduing such able batters as Bell, Smith, Huston, Ruse and others. Herman Wells pitched for the National Leaguers, permitting eight hits, all coming in the fifth, sixth and seventh frames when all runs were scored. The box scores:

MARRIAGE LICENSE LAW NOW OPERATIVE

The new law making five days advance application for a marriage license necessary, became operative Thursday.

Probate Judge S. C. Wright and Miss Allegra Hawes, deputy, in charge of the marriage license division of the probate court, said that the law will be enforced to the letter in Greene County.

The first couple making application here for a license under the new law is George M. Herr and Miss Esther Ford, who appeared in court early Thursday. They will be married next week.

The law permits the probate judge to use his discretion as to whether a license can be issued without requiring the five days wait. This latitude, it is believed, will work against operation of the law in border counties, where much of the license business might otherwise go outside the state.

CHURCH TO CELEBRATE 100TH ANNIVERSARY

Jamestown United Presbyterian Congregation Founded East Of Xenia By Scotch Colonists

Rev. L. L. GRAY

FROM a stubborn faith born of Scotch ancestry, augmented by the determination and courage of the spirit of colonization, has come the Jamestown United Presbyterian Church congregation which celebrates a century of history Saturday and Sunday.

For while the United Presbyterian Church dates its records only from 1858, it is actually the result of a union of the old Associate Church and of the Associate Reformed Church, both pioneer religious organizations in Greene County. These religions were brought to the county as early as 1798 by Kentucky colonists of Scotch birth but it was not until the Rev. Robert Armstrong took charge of the tiny congregation that there was really molded here a new faith in the wilderness of the new West.

The life of this picturesque pioneer preacher is closely woven with the making of a county here and he occupies a colorful chapter in the county's history. Those early colonists imbued with the faith and living along Massies Creek, east of Xenia, first became interested in bringing the Rev. Mr. Armstrong to Greene County.

He was dissatisfied with slavery conditions in Kentucky and came here to preach one day, administering the first baptism of his church, September 1, 1804. As a result he was extended a call and came here following his marriage to Miss Nancy Andrew in Tennessee. It is a matter of record that he purchased 301 acres of Greene County farm land for $620 and here he lived until he died.

THE first church of the Associate congregation was on Massies Creek, on a three-acre tract donated by James Stevenson for church and graveyard purposes. It is there that the Rev. Mr. Armstrong is buried. He served this pastorate and also mission churches at Sugarcreek (Bellbrook) and in Xenia and out of became the charter members, certified by the session of Massies Creek as dismissed by order of presbytery, July 26, 1831: John Ireland, Josiah Espey, Margaret Espey, John Turnbull, Margaret Turnbull, James Creswell, Ann Creswell, Martha Creswell, William Sterrett, Elizabeth Sterrett, John Collins, Margaret Collins, George Junkin, Martha Junkin, Mary Anne Irwin, Margaret Irwin, Euphemia Brown, Andrew Harper, Christiana Duncan, Nancy L. Duncan, Mary Anne Duncan, Anthony Cannon, Martha Cannon, Thomas Cannon, Ann Cannon, John Bickett, Margaret Bickett, Hugh Campbell, Janet Campbell, Mary Moore, Elizabeth Dean, Archibald Greave, Nancy Greave, Lancelot Junkin, Lancelot Junkin, Jr., Rosanna Glin, Catherine Wilson, James Struthers, Elizabeth Struthers, Nancy West, Mary Currie and J. C. Webb.

THE Rev. Mr. Wilson again preached August 24, 1831 and the elders were duly ordained. A comfortable house of worship was built on the banks of Caesars Creek, three miles west of Jamestown, and was entered before the close of that year, the congregation continuing to worship there until the present church was erected in Jamestown in 1867. In the meantime, however, the church, following the union of 1858, adopted the polity of the United Presbyterian Church.

The first pastor of the congregation was the Rev. Andrew Heron, D. D., who was installed January 8, 1833, and who served until October 18, 1843. The second pastor, the Rev. Cyrus Cummings, served from October 22, 1846 to March 25, 1861. He was followed by the Rev. W. A. Robb, D. D., who was installed April 23, 1863 and was reluctantly released by the congregation after a continuous service of fifty years, his resignation, due to infirmities of age, being accepted April 23, 1913, the fiftieth anniversary of his installation. The Rev. William A.

Lorimer became pastor July 21, 1914 and the Rev. L. L. Gray is present pastor.

It is the Rev. Mr. Gray who is in charge of the current celebration beginning with an address Saturday at 10:30 a. m. by the Rev. S. R. Jamieson, pastor of Sugarcreek U. P. Church, which, under the patronage of Dr. Cummings, was a part of the Jamestown charge. A picnic dinner will be enjoyed at noon and a history of the church will be given in the afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Lorimer, who is now at West Alexander, Pa., will preach Sunday morning and the Rev. J. H. Dean, Cleveland, will preach Sunday evening.

INSTALL OFFICERS FOR ODD FELLOWS

It's Time to think about a Year 'Round Vacation

Two weeks in the country or at the seashore... two carefree weeks with nothing to do but enjoy yourself, rest and relax. What a boon a real vacation can be!

But consider this! Yours can be a Year 'Round Vacation from many duties if you just say the word. Yours can be a 'year 'round vacation of greater comfort and convenience if you accept the countless services of gas and electricity.

This isn't idle talk. Wouldn't you consider it a genuine treat to never have to tend a furnace, to never worry about cooking, to always have just as much hot water as you needed without any bother or fuss. These are just a few of the joys found in the home using up to date natural gas equipment.

Wouldn't you like cooling breezes in the summer time from an electric fan, quick heat in the winter from a gas furnace, the services of an electric washer, ironer, toaster, and the hundred and one other appliances that convert electricity and gas to usefulness?

A Year 'Round Vacation at home. That's what gas and electricity offer you. You have but to use the economical service of these modern servants to guarantee yourself greater happiness twelve months out of every year.

NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CO. REPORTS BIG PROFIT THIS YEAR

Net profit of $864,884 is shown by the National Cash Register Co. for the second quarter of 1931, F. B. Patterson, president, announced Thursday.

The profit comes after deducting all expenses, including repairs and maintenance, and provision for depreciation and taxes, and reserve for income tax.

This is to be compared with a profit of $864,884 for the second quarter of 1930, of $773,464.58. Consolidated net profit for the six months ending June 30, 1931, amounted to $491,700.90, as compared with $1,685,705.45, for the first six months of 1930.

The statement shows a decided up-turn in business for the second quarter of this year, and is of considerable encouragement to those on the look out for signs of improvement in general business conditions.

TWO COUNTY JAIL PRISONERS FLEE FROM WEED-CUTTING GANG

Harold Cyphers, alias Miller, and Woodrow Littler, both 17, who walked away from a gang of county jail prisoners cutting weeds along the New Lexington Pike three miles south of Xenia Wednesday afternoon, were still at large Thursday.

Sheriff John Baughn, who with deputies, tracked one of the fugitives for half a mile through a corn field after the escape was reported to him, at once began an intensive search for the pair. Clues held Thursday led to the belief that they would soon be apprehended. Descriptions and photographs of the pair were being sent out to police departments and sheriffs throughout this section Thursday.

Cyphers and Littler belonged to a gang of twelve prisoners sent out to cut weeds Wednesday morning by the county commissioners, who placed them on their honor. The commissioners undertook this way of employing prisoners as an experiment, and the gang had worked all Wednesday morning without incident. They were returned to the county jail for dinner and were working on the afternoon shift when the escape occurred.

KIDNAPED MINUS CLOTHING

WASHINGTON, C. H. O., July 23.—A story of how Thomas Anders, 56, with only the darkness for clothing, was forced to do chauffeur duty for a bandit who invaded the privacy of his bedroom while he was undressing for bed, today sent authorities off on a hunt for the thief.

Anders, who resides alone near Buena Vista, had just returned from prayer meeting and was about ready to slip into bed when the intruder entered.

Disregarding Anders' nudity, the bandit compelled his host to surrender $50, then ordered him to enter his automobile and take him to a place near Greenfield, O.

There they parted, the bandit being careful that Anders had nothing but a tire cover to wear home, according to the police account.

HORSE KICK FATAL

WILLARD, O., July 23.—The kick of a horse, physicians said today, caused the death of R. H. Snyder, 69, farmer in Municipal Hospital last night. The horse kicked Snyder in the stomach Tuesday.

SPYING ON SPORTS BY WILLIAM RITT

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor

THEY SET off such grand fireworks over Bobby Jones' "grand slam" of golf it's a wonder the boys aren't giving Big Bill Tilden a tumble.

Large William has just completed one of those grand slams, too. But it was in tennis. Maybe that makes a difference.

But it shouldn't.

Bobby was canonized because he won all the major league titles in the most popular major sport (outside of auction bridge and crap shooting) this nation has ever gone for. Bill's medium, tennis, interests many but not quite so many.

Again—Bobby Jones scored his slam while still an amateur. William clicked off his last big net crown after he had become a pro. And pro net players are largely regarded as employees, even as you and I. And who ever hails an employee as a great hero?—not other employees, by a long shot.

TILDEN completed his tennis slam when he bopped over Vinny Richards in straight sets in the final match of the national professional tourney at Forest Hills, L. I.

Thus in his tennis lifetime Tilden has won:

National singles (amateur). Seven times.

National doubles (amateur). Five times.

National mixed doubles (amateur). Twice.

National indoor singles (amateur). Once.

National indoor doubles (amateur). Four times.

National indoor mixed doubles (amateur). Twice.

National clay court singles (amateur). Seven times.

British singles (amateur). Three times.

British doubles (amateur). Once.

National singles (professional). Once.

National indoor singles (professional). Once.

Thirty-four major league tennis championships, amateur and professional, including every big net crown there is to be won! If that isn't a grand slam in sport there never was one.

TO TILDEN'S magnificent record may be added his participation in Davis cup international team play. The Davis cup matches hold greater sport prestige than the Walker and Ryder cup golf clashes due to the fact the Davis cup has been in competition almost 25 years longer than the two links classics.

Big Bill has played for the United States in 11 consecutive Davis cup challenge rounds. He has won 21 matches in this tennis "world series" play, 17 of these being singles victories. He was defeated but seven times, losing five singles matches.

That's a "world series" batting average over a period of 11 years of .750. What grand slammer that Mr. Tilden proves to be when his work is really analyzed.

COLLEGE "RAGGING" TO GO
LONDON—(I. N. S.)—"Ragging" which is the British term for hazing, is to be curbed at British universities. A Champion Shows You How

Pretty Eleanor Holm, youthful New York girl, who holds the national backstroke and 300-yard medley swimming championships and is aiming for more laurels, is presented to you here in the manner in which she outclasses her competitors. Center picture illustrates how beautifully Eleanor dives at the start of a victorious race. Top, left, is a close-up of the aquatic star. Insert, lower right, shows her demonstrating the crawl, the best in her free-style bag of strokes. Lower photo depicts the reliable breast stroke. All pictures were taken at Rye, N. GREENE COUNTY NOT AFFECTED BY STATE EDUCATION RULING

Because great care has been exercised in Greene County in regard to selection of teachers, for a number of years, the order of Dr. O. B. Skinner, state director of education, in a special letter issued Wednesday to county school superintendents of Ohio, to "weed out" undesirable teachers will have little or no effect here, H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools said Thursday.

In a letter to the superintendents, the director pointed out that many qualified teachers are unemployed, and can be obtained to bring a higher standard in the teaching staffs.

"The department of education informed me some time ago, that Greene County stands second in the state in the qualifications of its teachers," said Superintendent Aultman.

"We have been unusually careful over a period of years in selecting teachers, and not taking those unprepared, and about whom there was any question regarding qualifications. Off hand, I would say that the director's letter need cause no worry here. We have really just been acting in advance on this order. For a long period, Greene County has had no high school teachers who were not college graduates. The requirement in the grades is at least two years of normal school work. Most of the grade teachers have the two years normal training and some of them four years college work. The exceptions to this rule are few."

With two or three exceptions teaching staffs of the county high and grade schools have been employed for the 1931-32 terms, Superintendent Aultman said. The teaching staffs were slightly decreased in order to meet the budget and avoid shortening the term, the school head said. There were really very few teachers actually dropped from the rolls, but in cases where a faculty member resigned the place was not filled by another teacher, the duties being assigned to another member of the staff. By thus increasing the load of the remaining teachers, the county school department was able to avoid a shorter school term, a question which is being faced by many county and city schools throughout the state.

FREAK HAIL STORM HITS SECTIONS OF COUNTY WEDNESDAY

Hail, in some instances as large as walnuts, fell in sections of Greene County in a freak storm that came out of the north last Wednesday afternoon, causing considerable damage to corn and other crops and sending the temperature down rapidly. Neither rain or hail fell in Xenia.

In Jamestown and east of that village toward the Fayette County line, hail described as large as walnuts fell for a short time. Driven by a high wind it riddled corn in many fields and caused considerable damage to other crops, including melons and fruit. Automobile tops were pierced by the hailstones in several instances.

North east of Xenia on the Stevenson Road residents reported so heavy a fall of hail that after the storm one family at least shoveled up the stones and used them to freeze ice cream.

Colliers at the Xenia Country Club scurried to shelter when a heavy wind and rain storm broke. There was a fifteen minute shower accompanied by a slight fall of hail, although a short distance on either side of the club grounds there was no storm.

Heavy showers were reported at Clifton, Yellow Springs and Cedarville.

The temperature began to rise early Wednesday night after the sudden drop due to the storm.

ATTEMPT TO SETTLE FUSS DISASTROUS

Albert McDufford, 41, Park St., drew a $10 fine and ten days jail sentence in municipal court Thursday because he undertook to settle a neighborhood quarrel with his fists.

Mrs. Mary Mendenhall complained that McDufford renewed the fuss when he met her on E. Main St., Wednesday afternoon, struck her in the eye and knocked her into a bush. She appeared against him with one black eye, to substantiate her charge.

Governor Ritchie Heard Over Network On Friday

By MILDRED MASON

Friday will be another day when there is nothing outstanding on the air but there are enough interesting programs planned to afford amusement for these summer days. A few special programs are listed below.

Gives Hostess Chat

In keeping with the season Mrs. Luitpold Schengen, social director of the Greater Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati, will discuss "Pleasing and Interesting Accessories in the Home" during her hostess chat over WLW Friday at 9:15 a. m.

Guild Presents Drama

"Saturday's Children" is the drama to be produced by the Radio Guild for the broadcast over an NBC network Friday at 3:15 p. m. This program will be heard through station WLW, Cincinnati.

To Honor Columbus

Columbus, Ohio's capital city, and known to sociologists as "the typical American community," will be the city honored on the WLW Panfance program Friday evening at 7:05 o'clock. The history of the city will be related and interesting details will be described to radio listeners.

Governor On Air

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, one of the leading candidates for the Democratic Presidential nomination, will address the Old South over a Columbia network Friday evening from 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock. The subject of his address has not been announced and it has also not been announced over what stations the program may be heard.

Famous Director Broadcasts

Governor Ritchie, "Evangel of the Baton" will direct his orchestra, including the famous saxophone octet, in a series of six concerts, the first to be heard Friday from 8 to 8:30 p. m. Creator is an Italian by birth but music lovers in the United States and Canada are familiar with his works. The program will be heard through station WKCY, Covington.

To Discuss Director

David Wark Griffith, noted movie picture director, will be the subject of the Picture Brief to be presented by Francis X. Bushman, former movie star, in his series of programs Friday evening. The program will be heard over station WLW, Cincinnati, at 8:30 o'clock.

Vaudeville Star On Air

Doc Rockwell, vaudeville wit, will broadcast from the S. S. Levlach as guest entertainer in the RKO Theater of the Air program over an NBC network at 9:30 p. m. Friday. The remainder of the program will be broadcast from the New York studios. Xenians will hear the program over station WSAI, Cincinnati.

VEXED THE POLICEMAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—An ill chosen tune brought a ukelele player into court, but the short-lived wrath of Patrolman John McAuliffe soon burned out and the musician, John Theiss, 21, escaped with a suspended sentence. It seemed that everything the officer passed Theiss' down the youth would strum: "Brass buttons, blue coat, couldn't catch a nanny goat."

SAVED BY 20-STORY LEDGE
NEW YORK—(INS)—Few people who fall out of a twenty-first story window ever live to tell the tale. John Carroll did, however, and only suffered a broken ankle. Carroll's lucky "break" came when he grabbed a window ledge on the twentieth floor. Had he fallen one more inch outward he would have plunged to his death.

WRESTLING DATA IN CONN.
HARTFORD, Conn.—(INS) More than 418,000 people paid $59,721 to see boxing and wrestling in Connecticut in the year ending June 30, last. The state collected $21,889 in taxes from the bouts. 1,311 in number. Thomas A. Donahue, of New London, athletic commissioner, is charged with seeing that the state collects the taxes.

The Mysterious Young Man

By LOUISE GERARD

CHAPTER 38

AS IF STUNNED Hilary looked at his mother, after the butler's accusation.

He knew a man had rung her up under the name of "Perseus" because once he had answered the call himself. Quite well too he remembered the incident of the Day-Munson's dance. His mother was nowhere to be found and he had had to go alone.

For all that, he would believe no wrong of his idol.

"Mother," he sobbed, "let me kill him. I can't bear his foul lies."

Lady Mooring laid a restraining hand on the distraught boy's arm. With icy mien she faced Symonds who was scrambling up from the floor.

"Go to my secretary at once. Ask her to give you a month's wages and see that you are out of this house before luncheon. Remember, too, there is a law of libel. If I hear you have been spreading the vile untruth you will be called upon to prove your words."

Turning from the butler she looked at her son.

"Hilary, come with me."

Dazed, the boy followed his mother into the dining-room, a huge place with a thick door; an apartment so large that voices talking at its far end would be inaudible outside.

Once the door closed behind them, Lady Mooring's composed air vanished. She knew she must justify herself to her son. Unless he knew the truth, a shadow of suspicion would always come between them. She had passed off the incident of the Day-Munson ball by saying she had been unexpectedly called out to a friend who had had bad news. In the face of Symonds' revelations this excuse would not stand. If her son liked to make inquiries—and he would hardly let such an insult pass without trying to get to the bottom of it—he would have no difficulty in finding out that she had been at the Savoy Hotel with Roy Burney.

Then the truth would have to be told.

If the boy found there were grounds for Symonds' accusation he would be in no receptive mood for the real story. Now was the moment, when his young chivalry was aflame, his faith in her unshaken.

Crossing to the fireplace she almost dropped into a deep chair.

Already the young man was recovering a little, enough to realize that Symonds would not have made such a statement unless there were some grounds for suspicion. Moreover, he knew that his mother's marriage had been one of convenience, forced on her by poverty-stricken relatives, in order to save themselves and her deeply mortgaged estate.

Lord Hilary Fenton knew the ways of the world; he knew too, that in his mother's affections he had been superseded; that there was somebody she loved more than himself.

A sick feeling suddenly invaded him. His idol started to totter.

"Well, mother," he said, as the moments passed and she remained silent.

Avoiding his gaze, in a low, trembling voice, with hands clasped tightly together, she started talking.

With an incredulous air, he listened. But as the story went on, he forgot everything save the tragedy she was unfolding. Before the end was reached he was kneeling beside her, his arms about her waist.

"My poor little mother," he whispered, "I wasn't your fault."

"No, Hilary, it wasn't. I died when I heard Lee was drowned. And I didn't start to live again until . . . until you came. And . . . and I didn't even know about Roy. When he first wrote to me I couldn't believe it. I thought he must be an impostor. But when he came I knew. It was like meeting a long shadow."

Another aspect of the case suddenly struck the boy.

He sprang to his feet.

"I won't have Roy making all the sacrifices. Where is he? I must have it out with him."

"Hilary darling, don't do anything rash. Think of your father and your brothers. You mustn't do anything without consulting Roy. He's so clever. He knows where the fault lies and he's so anxious to do the best for all of us. He made me promise not to say a word to any of you. But after what Symonds said—"

"But where is he?" Hilary demanded. "He and I have to arrange this matter between us. I must get at him and talk things out. Why should he suffer through no fault of his?"

"Roy is not suffering—now, darling. He's a multi-millionaire, an American citizen. And he says he wouldn't lose his citizenship to be king of England. He loves me, Hilary, and his one idea is to avoid all scandal. He says he saw you the day he came to the castle, and that you're more cut out for the part of the heir than he is."

"Yes, I remember," the boy said excitedly. "I saw him. A slim little chap, isn't he? We clicked at once. He was anxious to kick that swine of a Symonds even then. A great pity he didn't. One of the best, he seemed."

"He is, darling. In character exactly like—his father."

"But where is he?" the youngster demanded again.

Last week he cabled from Peking. He had traced his father to Hawaii, and was going there at once, to rescue him and look after him."

Lady Mooring's mouth started to twist in agony.

"My poor Lee!" she moaned. "What he must have suffered and endured. All to screen me!"

The pain in his mother's voice made the boy forget his own peculiar position.

On her shoulder he laid a consoling, understanding hand.

"My poor tragic little mother, wouldn't you like to see Lee again?"

"If only I could! Just to explain. Just to tell him it wasn't really my fault."

Half-kneeling beside her, he drew her suffering face onto his shoulder.

"Could! Of course you could," he whispered. "I'll go to the pater at once. Tell him I'm crazy to travel, threaten to enlist or run away to sea if he won't let me. He'll let me all right if you back me up and say you'll go as my chaperon. Then little mother, I'll be crazy after South Sea Islands, and we'll go to Hawaii. And you can see Lee, and I can have it out with Roy."

Her arms went round his neck.

"Thank God, thank God, for my sons," she sobbed.

Then she buried her face in his shoulder and burst into a torrent of weeping.

The island of Hawaii rises up from the sea in a swift, steep slope of brilliant jade, the dazzling green of endless sugar plantations. This glow runs up to the dense black cloud that usually hovers around the giant crater of Kilauea. Above the pall of smoke soars the peak of Mauna Loa, over 13,000 feet high, snow capped and dazzling against the bright blue of the Pacific sky.

The Honolulu idyl of Carole Lombard and William Powell is nearing its end. They will be back in Hollywood in August for Carole to start work opposite Dick Arlen in "No One Man." GIVES $50,000 SERMON

Wealthy Pastor, Blaming Bankers For Depression, Cancels All Debts

Dr. William States Jacobs, "Santa Claus preacher" of Houston, Tex.

By SAM JOHNSON
Central Press Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex., July 23.—A Houston preacher has convinced a large Sunday congregation that there really is a Santa Claus!

Dr. William States Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, in a vitriolic sermon recently accused bankers of the world as being responsible for the present economic ills.

After urging his charges to be more lenient with their debtors, and voicing an appeal in behalf of the needy, Dr. Jacobs tossed a figurative bombshell into his congregation by announcing that he was canceling all debts owed him, totaling $50,000.

A $50,000 Sermon
"This sermon," he observed, "is costing me $50,000, for I am remitting all debts, some of which were incurred a quarter of a century ago, when I began my pastorate here at this church. I want my debtors to consider their obligations canceled and erased from the book of memory."

Dr. Jacobs said that many of the debts were long since past due, and that 99 per cent of them were owed by persons in difficult financial circumstances. The debts include, he said, personal loans of small amounts, past due notes and mortgages of larger amounts.

Dr. Jacobs had been scheduled to preach a "year of jubilee" sermon. "I couldn't do this—knowing that some of the people who owe me are in distress, and worrying about the defaulted payments—until I had released them from these obligations," he declared.

Urges Generosity

He voiced an eloquent plea that those with wealth be generous at this time toward people in financial distress, and urged that men be considered as of "more value than dollars." Labor, he asserted, which has helped to pile up surpluses for an institution, has some right in that institution.

"Capital is very timid," Dr. Jacobs went on. "It avoids risks. The instant labor does not pay, it wants to cut labor off. But when a worker labors for a bare living wage, and helps pile up a surplus of wealth for an institution, he has some rights in it. Put that thought in your pipe and smoke it. You are going to hear it shouted in the not distant future. Labor is not a commodity to be bought and sold."

Scores Bankers
Returning to his attack on bankers who refuse to make loans on good security, Dr. Jacobs declared that such institutions should be closed and a sign: "Permanently Closed" nailed on their doors.

"The government should not allow such banks to operate," he explained. "The money in the banks is loaned to them by the people, mostly without interest, and people, who can offer good security are entitled to loans. To shut up the veins of compassion at a time like this, is a sin against humanity, and all of the theologians cannot convince me that a sin against humanity is not a sin against God."

Hits at Merchants
"As for the merchants, most of them seem to be trying to get along on a cash basis. They are seeking to avoid risk, to get in all the money they can, and to sell without responsibility to anyone. The merchant is a public servant. The time is coming when this selfish idea will collapse. Stores will serve, or close their doors."

Dr. Jacobs came to Houston twenty-five years ago as a young minister just out of college. Possessing a keen sense of business in addition to ability as a theologian, he practiced economy, saved his earnings, and invested wisely. Now he is rated as a wealthy man, perhaps a millionaire. He has extensive real estate holdings in all parts of Houston, whose population is now 300,000.

More recently Dr. Jacobs announced his intention of giving up his charge and retiring from active duty.

Some of the pastor's debtors were present at the time of Dr. Jacobs' announcement. Their faith in Santa Claus was restored.

"WHY I PREFER SOHIO heat-tempered GASOLINE"

Contest Closes Midnight August 2nd

"Lots of chances to win—
and 10 minutes now may bring you a small fortune!"Remarks Floyd Gibbons, chairman of committee that will decide which 53 are best.

Hello everybody. At this stage of the game I suppose a hard-boiled old professional contest judge would be looking wise and saying nothing. But I'm new in the business, and so are Cliff and "Midge," the other "justices" in this little old "supreme court" of ours, and so I'm going out on a limb and pass along a tip. It ought to interest a lot of folks—those who've already sent in their contest letters as well as those who are still chewing the pencil. Here it is: That trip to Europe and that Four Thousand Dollars in gold still is anybody's!

There are no premiums for the early-birds. Late starters have just as good a chance as anybody—providing they get under the wire before midnight August 2nd.

Hoping to hear from you soon!
